How to Use This Guide

The information is intended to be a guide and reference tool for practitioners — it is not intended and shall not be relied on for legal or tax advice. State legislation and regulation is subject to frequent change. Every practitioner should research their specific facts and verify the various state tax provisions at that time.

The authors intend to update this publication frequently and will endeavor to have the citations updated frequently. Please check the firms' websites for the most up-to-date version at www.deandorton.com/publications or www.dinsmore.com/equinetaxbook.

Overview

Racehorses and show horses are typically purchased and used in multiple states. Their often sizable value and the patchwork of differing state sales and use tax rules can create significant sales and use tax exposures. This publication is an effort to begin developing a resource on the application of various states' sales and use tax rules as they apply specifically to these businesses. It is a work in progress. We anticipate adding states and refining the discussion and appreciate input and observations from advisors to and participants in the equine business and will post updated versions on our firms' websites. The information provided herein is general in nature and may not be used as tax or legal advice. Please consult a professional advisor on your specific situation.

Sales and Use Tax

The sales tax is typically imposed on the retail sale of tangible personal property in the state. Some states also tax leases of such property. Additionally, a few states tax the sale of services. States also exempt certain types of tangible personal property from the sales tax. The tax is imposed on the purchaser of the property, but collected and remitted by the seller. Some states provide sellers with an exception from the requirement to collect and remit sales tax when they only make taxable sales on an "occasional" or "isolated" basis.

Sales of horses may be exempt from the sales tax on any number of bases. Some states exempt the sale of horses used for particular purposes, such as breeding or racing. States will often exempt horses purchased for re-sale. States will also often exempt the seller from collecting sales tax on horses delivered out of state. Most states do not impose the sales tax on services or on intangible property, so the nature of the item being sold under the relevant state law impacts whether or not sales tax will be due. Some states treat leases as sales subject to the sales tax.

Use Tax

The use tax serves as a complement to the sales tax. It is typically imposed on the storage, use, or consumption of tangible property upon which no sales tax was paid to the state where the property is used.

The use tax is paid directly by the owner of the property to the state where the property is used. Most states permit a credit against the use tax for sales tax paid on the purchase of property to another state. As in the case of the sales tax, states also exempt certain types of tangible property from the use tax.

The use of horses may be exempt from the use tax on a number of bases. Some states exempt "temporary" use of a horse in their state. Some states exempt the use of a horse that was purchased some time prior to importation into the state for use or prior to establishment of residence or commercial domicile in the state. As in the case of sales tax, states may exempt horses used for particular purposes from the use tax. And they will often exempt horses held for re-sale from the use tax. Some states treat leases of property used in the state as subject to the use tax, even where the owner of the property is not domiciled in the state. States may impose the use tax on the purchase price of the property, its fair market value at the time it becomes subject to use tax, the lower or higher of the two or some capped amount.

Foreign Sales

This guide does not currently address purchases or sales of horses from and to foreign countries. If a transaction involves another country, then inquiry should be made as to possible tax impact of such a transaction and international treaties that may apply, as well as United States constitutional issues regarding export of goods.

Notes and Comments

California has numerous sales tax rates for the state and localities as follows:

- ▶ The state rate is 7.25% comprised of the following:
  - › 4.75% state general fund tax under Code section 6051.
  - › 0.5% state local revenue fund under code section 6051.2.
  - › 0.5% state local public safety fund tax under California Constitution section 35, Article XIII.
  - › 0.25% state general fund under Code section 6051.3.
  - › 0.25% state fiscal recovery fund tax under Code section 6051.5.
  - › Cities or counties may impose up to 1.5% local (county/city) tax comprised of 0.25% for county transportation funds and 0.75% for city and county operations under Code section 7203.1 and an additional 0.5%. See www.boe.ca.gov/pdf/pub71.pdf for additional information.

1. McConville v. State Board of Equalization, 85 Cal.App.3d 156, 149 Cal.Rptr. 194 1978.

Quarter horse case involved broodmare purchased for resale that was subsequently bred.

Relevant statute is California Revenue and Taxation Code section 6201-7273.

Court held that subsequent breeding was necessary to sell horses and didn't change the intent to resell requirement and therefore the horses were not subject to use tax. If the plaintiff ultimately retains the mares, then use tax will be due.

2. Agnew v. California State Board of Equalization, 2003 WL 21464990 (Cal. App. 2 Dist., June 25, 2003). (unpublished)

Taxpayer disputed that sales tax was due on syndication of thoroughbred stallion, DESERT WINE. Taxpayer attempted to argue that sale of fractional interests was transfer of services rather than property and the cumulative sale was single sale.

The Court held sale of fractional interests was sale of tangible property and that syndicate owned the horse. Court held that sale was not the sale of a limited partnership interest or sale of services only and that each sale of each fractional interest was a sale, thus cumulative transaction not eligible for occasional sale exemption. Sale of fractional interests were individual sales and not sold into a limited partnership. The Court held that the Board determined more than 40 years prior to the case that each fractional interest represented an undivided ownership interest in the horse (quoting the syndicate agreement at length and Annotation 540.0300). This is to be distinguished from the sale of an annual nomination (right to breed a mare) which is not subject to sales tax as it is not tangible personal property (Annotation 540.0600).

Notes and Comments

1. Department of Revenue v. Ocala Breeders' Sales, Inc., 725 So.2d 387 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1998).

Taxpayer, Ocala Breeders' Sales (OBS), is a public Thoroughbred auction company. OBS included information about pedigrees and race records in its catalogs, which it gave to prospective buyers. The Florida Department of Revenue imposed a use tax on the amount paid to obtain records on the horses. The appellate court, interpreting Fla. Stat. § 212.05, reversed the district court and held that a use tax could not be imposed for the gathering of information for the catalogs' production. The court first discussed the language of the statute, stating that Ocala was providing an auctioneering service, not a retail service. It then focused on the fact that the costs incurred by Ocala in producing the brochure did not add to the cost of the brochures, which were given away for free. Additionally, the court did not believe the legislature intended to tax clients for using opinions obtained from professionals.

Notes and Comments

1. Estate of Graham v. Department of Revenue, 516 N.E.2d 617 (Ill. App. Ct. 1987).

The operators of two horse farms argued that their purchase of horses was exempt under 86 Ill. Admin. Code 130.2100, which provides a tax exemption for gross receipts realized from the sale of servicing animals for breeding purposes. The Department had found that each of the horses had been used at least once for racing purposes. The court held that the horse owners could not overcome the Department's prima facie case merely by denying the accuracy of the assessments, and the horse owners had failed to present evidence that these particular horses were used for breeding at all. NOTE: Under 35 Ill. Comp. Stat. 105/3-5(27) and 35 Ill. Comp. Stat. 105/3-5(21), horses and interests of horses are now exempt from sales and use tax if registered with and meeting the requirements of the Arabian Horse Club Registry of America, Appaloosa Horse Club, American Quarter Horse Association, United States Trotting Association, or Jockey Club, as appropriate, and used for purposes of breeding or racing for prizes.

Notes and Comments

1. Stoner Creek Stud, Inc. v. Revenue Cabinet Commonwealth of Kentucky, 746 S.W.2d 73 (Ct. App. Ky. 1988).

This case arose from audit of taxpayer and subsequent appeal from the Board of Tax Appeals which held that the feed and machinery used in a horse business were not exempt from the application of sales tax and that use tax was due on hay purchased out of state. Board of Tax Appeals decision was affirmed by the Court of Appeals.

Relevant statutes were Kentucky Revised Statutes 139.200, 139.310, 139.480(7) and (9) and Regulations 103 KAR 30:130(1).

The Court held that since horses were not livestock as set forth in the statute (which referred to “human consumption”) and since feed was not “tangible personal property to be used in manufacturing or industrial processing” of finished products for resale, that taxpayers’ arguments failed. The Court indicated that horses are bred and raised, not manufactured and processed and “Happily, the legendary esteem in which Kentuckians have always held horseflesh has never extended to the dinner table.” Similarly, the argument for the machinery failed, based on the Court’s interpretation of the definition of “livestock” under KRS 139.480.

Comment: This issue of sales tax on feed etc. in horse industry is at the forefront of objectives for KEEP (Kentucky Equine Education Project) which seeks to modify this tax so that horse farmers are treated similarly to cattle and other livestock which do not have to pay sales tax on feed etc. For further information, see www.horsework.com.

2. Calumet Farm, Inc. v. Revenue Cabinet, Commonwealth of Kentucky, 793 S.W.2d 830 (Ct. App. Ky. 1990).

This case arose from audit of taxpayer and subsequent appeal from the Board of Tax Appeals. Court held that lifetime breeding right in stallion (ALYDAR) was not a tax-exempt interest in horse but rather, a fee paid for breeding of stallion and fell within statute taxing fees paid for breeding of stallion.

Relevant statute was Kentucky Revised Statutes 139.531.

3. Commonwealth of Kentucky, Revenue Cabinet v. Kenington Sales, Inc. (Ct. App. Ky. 1992).

Case arose from audit of taxpayer which was a thoroughbred sales company that had subsequently changed ownership.

Relevant statutes were Kentucky Revised Statutes 139.531 dealing with sales of yearlings to out of state buyers.

Importance of this case is to point out the necessity to document out of state sales. For forms used by current sales companies, see for example: www.fasigtipton.com/media/ee/docs/KENTUCKY\_SALES\_AND\_USE\_TAX.pdf

1. Van Clief v. Comptroller of State of Maryland, 211 Md. 191, 126 A.2d. 865 (Ct. App. Md. 1956).

Court held that a broodmare which was formerly a race mare but now producing offspring was livestock “used for agricultural purposes,” and therefore was exempt from sales tax. Construction of statute and definition of “agricultural purposes” were both at issue.

Relevant statute was Code 1951, Article 81, Section 322 (Exemptions) subsection (h). Court relied on other jurisdictions to holding that “the weight of authority in other jurisdictions is that agriculture includes the rearing, feeding and management of horses.”

Notes and Comments

1. Gochneaur v. Kosydar*, 346 N.E.2d 320 (Ohio 1976).

A trainer/breeder tried to argue that his racehorses were exempt from Ohio's use tax under the Ohio Rev. Code § 5739.02 agriculture exemption. Using the definition of "agriculture" in Webster's dictionary, the court found that the racehorses satisfied the definition of "agriculture" because they were "livestock." Ultimately, however, the court ruled in favor of the Tax Commissioner, because the trainer did not properly give notice of appeal.

2. Red Fox Stables, Inc. v. Porterfield*, 277 N.E.2d 433 (Ohio 1972).

Red Fox Stables, which operated a riding academy on a 187-acre tract of land, appealed sales and use taxes imposed on its purchase of horses. The Stable argued that the transactions at issue constituted exempt agricultural activity. The court disagreed, holding that the activity was not undertaken in furtherance of agriculture. The court relied heavily on a prior Board of Tax Appeals opinion that defined "agriculture" as "the cultivation of the soil for the purpose of producing vegetables and fruits and includ[ing] gardening or horticulture, together with the raising and feeding of cattle or stock for sale as a business." Under this definition, the court did not consider the purchase of horses for use at a riding academy an "agricultural" use.

3. Randall Park Jockey Club, Inc. v. Peck*, 122 N.E.2d 787 (Ohio 1954).

Taxpayer, a racing association, appealed sales and use taxes imposed on its rental of pari-mutuel machines, which it used to take bets on horse races. The Club argued that the rental involved installation of the devices, which was a tax-exempt service. The court disagreed, holding that the machines were taxable personal property that triggered sales and use taxes. The court further explained that the taxes should be imposed on the cost of the rental and not on the price of each wager ticket sold through the machine.

Notes and Comments

1. Commonwealth v. Hanover Shoe Farms, Inc.* (27 Pa. D. & C2d 366, 1962 WL 6811 (Pa.Com.Pl., 1961))

Appeal from Board of Finance and Revenue to the Court of Common Pleas of Pennsylvania.

Relevant statute was Selective Sales and Use Tax Act (72 P.S. 3403-2). The Sales and Use Tax Act used the words “farming” and “agriculture” without defining them.

The Court held that the sale of semen for artificial insemination was a retail sale under the statute. Court found that raising of standardbred horses was not “farming” or “agriculture” and therefore no exemption was permitted, holding that seminal fluid was tangible personal property.

In fact, the Court stated that “Standardbred horses fill no basic need of man. It is common knowledge that the breeding and raising of standardbred horses is one of producing a luxury product and not a product ordinarily considered necessary to man’s needs: standardbred horses have no relation to the land except to occupy it and the fact that they produce waste used to fertilize the soil is the nature of all living creatures.”

2. Commonwealth v. Wetzel*, 435 Pa. 468, 257 A.2d 538 (S.Ct. Pa. 1969).

The Court held that the sale of stud fee services for breeding of standardbred horses later sold in the market was not exempt from sales tax under sale for resale exemption. Taxpayer Wetzel sent mares to Hempt Farms for artificial insemination. Taxpayer’s argument was that “semen provided by Hempt Farms stallion, in uniting with the ovum of appellant’s mare to produce a foal, represents personal property physically incorporated into other personal property to be sold in the regular course of business.”

The Court also noted that since Hanover Shoe prohibits the characterization of artificial insemination and standardbred horse breeding as agricultural or farming, the taxpayer attempted to rely on the more general provisions of the statute for assembly operations. A similar case was argued by the mink breeders of Pennsylvania and failed. A subsequent Tax Act had been adopted in Pennsylvania since Hanover Shoe and the mink case, but did not alter the sections at issue.

3. Hempt Brothers, Inc. v. Commonwealth*, 137 Pa.Cmwlt. 188, 585 A.2d 593 (S.Ct. Pa., 1991).

Court held that the purchase of shares in stallion syndications resulted in acquisition of ownership interests subject to use tax.

Taxpayer attempted to argue, contrary to clear wording of syndication agreement, that the interest was more like a breeding right and was not an “ownership” right.

By occasional sale The sales tax does not apply to casual and isolated horse sales by persons who are not engaged in the business of selling tangible personal property or furnishing any of the services subject to the sales or use tax. The sales tax does not apply to sales of tangible personal property or taxable services not normally sold by a dealer and which has been used by the dealer prior to the sale. This exemption however, does not apply to any sales of tangible personal property or taxable services bought upon a resale certificate for resale by those persons who hold themselves out as engaged in business, notwithstanding the fact that the sales may be few and infrequent. Tenn. Code Ann. §§ 67-6-201, 67-6-102(8)(B); Tenn. Comp. R. & Regs. §1320-05-01-.09.

Horses delivered out of state

a. Tennessee looks at where title and possession of the goods are transferred. Generally, if the seller transfers either title or possession to the buyer or to the buyer's agent in Tennessee, then the seller must collect Tennessee sales tax unless a specific exemption from tax applies. A carrier hired by the buyer is the buyer's agent for purposes of determining whether title or possession has been transferred in Tennessee. Here are some specific situations:

If a seller located in Tennessee transfers goods in Tennessee to a carrier for shipment to a buyer located outside Tennessee, the following guidelines apply: The seller must generally collect Tennessee sales tax if:

- the sales contract specifies that title to the goods passes in Tennessee to the out-of-state buyer;
- the carrier is the buyer of the goods; or
- the buyer has hired the carrier to pick up the goods in Tennessee.

b. To avoid sales tax when selling to an out of state buyer, sales contracts should specify that title passes outside of Tennessee and sellers (not buyers) should hire the carrier to transport horses to a buyer outside Tennessee, even if the terms of sale require the buyer to reimburse the seller for freight charges or a buyer or third party are to pay those freight charges upon the carrier's delivery. Tennessee Important Notice No. 10/01/2001, 10/01/2001.

Leasing

The sales tax is imposed on every person who rents or furnishes taxable property or services. The sales tax is based on the gross proceeds derived from the lease or rental of tangible personal property, if the lease or rental of the property is an established business or part of an established business. Va. Code Ann. §58.1-603; Va. Admin. Code 23 §10-210-840(A).

Occasional Sales

Occasional sales are exempt from the sales tax. Va. Code Ann. §58.1-609.10(2). "Occasional sales" are sales of tangible personal property not held or used by a seller in the course of an activity for which he is required to hold a registration certificate, including the sale or exchange of all the assets of any business and the reorganization or liquidation of any business. The sale or exchange cannot be one of series of activities enough in number and regularity to require obtaining certificate of registration. Va. Code Ann. §58.1-602; Va. Admin. Code 23 §10-210-1080.

Horses delivered out of state

Generally, the sales and use tax does not apply to the sale of tangible personal property in interstate or foreign commerce. Va. Admin. Code 23 §10-210-780. Tangible personal property delivered out of state for use or consumption out of state is not a taxable sale. Va. Code Ann. §58.1-609.10(4).

Equine Industry Group

Located in Kentucky, known for its world-class horse farms, racing, and sales, our firm has provided accounting, tax, and business consulting services to the horse industry for over 35 years. Our clients cover a broad spectrum of organizations involved in the horse industry, from small boarding farms to large multidepartmental farms involved in boarding, breeding, selling, and stallion management; from racing stables to a racetrack; from bloodstock agents to equine veterinary firms; and from industry associations to equine insurance agencies. Not all of our clients are based in Kentucky; horse industry clients from other parts of the country and from outside the United States also gain comfort from having our industry specialists work with them.

As a firm, we endeavor to know the business of horses, not just accounting and tax rules relating to the industry. We accomplish this in a number of ways, including, most usefully, by working with our many clients in the industry on their business matters. We perform a variety of services for our clients involved in the equine industry and we welcome inquiries, whether from new participants in the industry who want assistance in properly structuring and administering their stables or farms or from longtime industry participants seeking to improve the performance and administration of their operations.

The unique attributes of the equine industry demand accounting services with the particular depth of experience and expertise that Dean Dorton delivers. When equine industry participants enlist Dean Dorton to provide tax services, they can be confident they are engaging a firm with in-depth industry experience and know-how. We are interested in our clients' business, know the industry, and can provide a wide range of valuable services designed to both optimize savings opportunities and avoid unanticipated problems.

Equine Team

Drawing on our extensive experience working with racetracks, account wagering companies and boarding, showing, training and breeding operations, as well as trainers and owners, our team brings a thorough knowledge of the equine industry to the table, enabling them to anticipate challenges and steer our clients toward solutions.

Our team is strongly-rooted in the equine industry, featuring attorneys who have helped clients in a variety of matters, including the negotiating and drafting of domestic and international simulcast agreements; the formation and structure of racing partnerships and racing leases; syndication and sale of elite showjumpers, three-day event horses stallions and other bloodstock interests; and the acquisition and sale of numerous commercial horse farms. We also have assisted clients with account wagering licenses and hearings, racetrack issues, media contracts, merchandising, import and export matters, and litigation of all types, including racing and United States Equestrian Federation (USEF) hearings.

Our work extends outside of the racetrack and show ring, as our attorneys are frequent contributors to various publications and educational forums, including being published in The Blood-Horse, Gaming Law & Economics, Casino Enterprise Management, Casino Lawyer and Business Lexington, and being quoted in The New York Times, Toronto Globe & Mail, Thoroughbred Times, Lexington Herald-Leader. Our team also features the Chair of the National Equine Law Conference.

Our attorneys' understanding of the industry not only provides our clients with a unique perspective, but also enables them to weigh both the short and long-term consequences of each decision. We place a premium on partnering with our clients — working together to achieve their goals and keep them moving forward.

Featured Experience

Worked with national account wagering company to acquire various state licenses and ensure regulatory compliance in multiple states to allow for continued operation of multi-million dollar business

Documentation of syndication or sale of stallions, including Kentucky Derby winner BIG BROWN, Breeders' Cup Classic winners GHOSTZAPPER and AWESOME AGAIN, and Eclipse Award winner WAR PASS

Advised international gaming companies on U.S. gaming law (civil and criminal), including the Wire Act, Interstate Horseracing Act of 1978 and Unlawful Internet Gambling Enforcement Act, and proposed federal legislation to legalize, tax and regulate various forms of igaming

Assisted client in purchase of interest in thoroughbred racetrack, including handling regulatory and state racing commission licensing issues for new owner

Drafted rules and regulations for fantasy handicapping tournaments, ensuring compliance with various state and federal laws, including the Unlawful Internet Gambling Enforcement Act

Negotiated and drafted all major contracts for premier racetrack. Contracts ranged from operational contracts, including condition book and stall application, to general business contracts, such as food service and on-track veterinary agreements.

Kerry Irwin

A lifelong horsewoman, Kerry grew up fox hunting and was a Jefferson and Echols scholar at the University of Virginia where she rode at the Barracks with Claiborne Bishop. After college, Kerry taught riding at Chatham Hall, a boarding school in Virginia, before attending Law School at the University of Kentucky, where she focused her studies on equine and transactional law. As a member of the Board of Directors of the Kentucky Horse Council, Kerry has a vested interest in supporting and growing Kentucky’s horse industry.

Kerry counsels clients in a wide variety of industries on corporate matters, including governance, mergers and acquisitions, financing, and other transactions. She also works with for-profit and non-profit organizations, as well as several trade organizations, tailoring her approach to meet each client’s unique corporate needs.

A member of Dinsmore’s Equine Law Group, Kerry has translated her passion for horses into her practice, where she counsels clients on equine law matters related to both the Thoroughbred and sport horse industries. Prior to joining the firm, she worked as a Staff Attorney for the Honorable Thomas D. Wingate in Franklin Circuit Court, where she gained experience in handling regulatory matters, including administrative appeals from the Kentucky Horse Racing Commission. She also has extensive experience in drafting equine contracts, specifically sale and lease contracts, as well as Thoroughbred and sporthorse syndication agreements.

Understanding the ties between the equine and gaming worlds, she also is adept at advising clients on internet gaming matters, including compliance with constantly-evolving rules and regulations. She has helped clients secure internet wagering licenses, and her gaming work also extends into the world of pari-mutuel wagering, charitable gaming, and sweepstakes and giveaways.
