Tele-Hype or Tele-Here to Stay? Navigating the Changing Landscape of Telehealth - Quick Webcast

Telehealth is exploding. Regulations and technology are changing rapidly, and the COVID-19 public health emergency led to several flexibilities—some temporary and some permanent. The goal of this presentation is to outline the risk management considerations related to the use of telehealth technology, provide an overview of the current regulatory scheme and describe the opportunities for the use of telehealth in health systems going forward.
