Allison is a seasoned litigation attorney dedicated to delivering unparalleled legal representation across diverse practice areas including insurance coverage, commercial contract disputes, commercial trucking, and personal injury defense. Allison routinely practices across Texas and in Utah. Her expertise extends to crafting persuasive and novel legal arguments, conducting thorough and thoughtful case analysis, and skillfully navigating the intricacies of the courtroom.

Known for her strategic approach and meticulous preparation, Allison has successfully represented clients in state and federal courts in various jurisdictions. Recent victories include summary judgment for an insurance carrier in a $30M Hurricane Harvey dispute, obtaining dismissal of all claims against an insurance agent for failure to procure, and summary judgment in a business contract dispute concerning additional insured coverage.

Allison stays abreast of the latest legal developments, ensuring her clients receive cutting-edge representation from pre-suit conversations through trial. Whether tackling commercial litigation, complex coverage disputes, or other legal challenges, Allison is a go-to litigator with a proven record of achieving results.
