Elly Piatt is the Government Relations Manager for Roebling Solutions, a full-service government relations firm that partners with public, private, and nonprofit clients to attain their policy goals through bridge building with officials at local, state, and federal levels.

Elly is a graduate from the University of Kentucky with dual degrees in Economics and Political Science. Elly began her journey in policy with an internship at the Texas Public Policy Foundation, a state based think-tank dedicated to advancing policy through education and advocacy efforts. After her time there, she returned home to Kentucky putting her skills to use during the 2022 Legislative Session working in the Senate President's Office. Elly also served as a policy intern under U.S. Senate Minority Leader Mitch McConnell and constituent services intern under Congressman Andy Barr. Most recently, Elly organized the grassroots efforts of the 2023 election cycle, working with the Republican Party of Kentucky as the Northern Kentucky Regional Field Director.

Living in Villa Hills, Kentucky, Elly enjoys spending her time with family and coaching high school Cross Country. She is also an active member of St. Joseph Catholic Church in Crescent Springs and the Kenton County Republican Party Executive Committee.
