Jean focuses her practice on alternative dispute resolution, business and commercial litigation, general civil litigation, insurance litigation, personal injury, and professional negligence. She represents individuals and businesses at the trial and appellate levels in state and federal courts. Her clients have included large institutional investors, individuals, and classes of individuals in multi-district and class action cases, including Holocaust survivors and non-governmental organizations that represent them. With Jean's assistance, those organizations negotiated approximately $9 billion in compensation for Holocaust victims and survivors. An active member of her professional community, she served as the 122nd president of the Cincinnati Bar Association and the executive director of the Potter Stewart American Inn of Court.
