Jeffrey represents clients in complex business litigation involving antitrust, contract, data privacy, employment, professional liability, securities and trade secrets issues. He has substantial trial experience in federal and state courts and has conducted numerous private arbitrations.

His clients rely on his seasoned legal advice and sound practical judgment. While he knows the law, he also has a keen sense for the business realities of litigation.

Jeffrey has represented clients in regulatory proceedings before the FTC, the DOJ and the SEC. He has advised corporate boards and committees in internal investigations involving Sarbanes-Oxley Act and Foreign Corrupt Practices Act issues.

After decades of practicing law, his passion for client advocacy is just as strong as the day he began his career.

Jeffrey was born in Cincinnati, where Dinsmore is headquartered, and grew up in Ohio. He moved to California for college and law school and has practiced in Los Angeles throughout his career.

He is rated AV Preeminent by Martindale-Hubbell.
