Denver, CO
Tel: (303) 831-6958

Josh focuses his practice on commercial litigation and the representation of construction industry professionals. Josh assists general contractors, subcontractors, design professionals, and property owners with contract review, payment disputes, and construction defects before the courts or through any alternative dispute resolution. Josh also defends clients against claims of personal injury, including negligence and premises liability. Prior to joining Dinsmore, Josh was an Assistant Chief Counsel for the Department of Homeland Security, litigating cases before federal administrative courts from trial through appeal. Josh also served as a judicial clerk at the Kansas Court of Appeals and Kansas Supreme Court, developing appellate knowledge and skills that he now uses to benefit Dinsmore clients and colleagues as a member of the appellate subgroup.

Josh is an experienced litigator able to handle complex cases, guiding clients through all aspects of a case, including negotiations, settlement, arbitration, trial, and appeal.
