Pittsburgh, PA

Tel: (412) 339-5612

Lauren is a civil litigator whose practice includes construction litigation, complex commercial litigation, workers' compensation litigation, and banking. Her litigation cases in the construction sector involve construction payment, defect and/or delay claims, and personal injury defense. She has extensive experience in all facets of litigation while handling a diverse array of construction and business disputes on behalf of local and national companies. Lauren is involved in all areas of case management and phases of litigation, with experience including research, drafting pleadings, preparing and responding to discovery, drafting motions and pre-trial briefs, and involvement in trial preparation and settlement negotiations.

Her commercial litigation practice also involves representation of companies and individuals facing issues including cease and desists, employment contracts, non-disclosure agreements, disputes regarding non-competes and non-solicitation provisions, and general business advice. She also handles banking matters such as mortgage foreclosures, replevin, garnishment, and third-party subpoenas.

Lauren is dedicated to building her own book of clients, with a focus on young, ambitious professionals in the Pittsburgh community seeking to advance and grow their businesses. Her clients admire her passion and interest in their companies, allowing her to zealously advocate for favorable resolutions.
