Pittsburgh, PA

Tel: (412) 339-6507

Murphy's work is centered around public finance law where she supports attorneys in the preparation of offering documents for municipal bond transactions and conducts research to resolve title disputes. Her contributions help ensure the accuracy and clarity of materials used in public offerings.

She graduated with honors from the University of Pittsburgh School of Law. Murphy was actively involved in student organizations and advocacy programs, served as Vice President of the Pitt Law Women's Association, and participated in multiple mock trial and moot court competitions where she gained valuable experience in legal analysis and courtroom procedure.

In recognition of her potential in the public finance field, Murphy received the Frederic L. Ballard, Jr. Memorial Scholarship from the National Association of Bond Lawyers following graduation.
