San Diego, CA

Tel: (619) 400-0456

Taylor focuses her practice on bankruptcy and restructuring, guiding businesses and individuals through complex financial challenges with clarity and precision. She works closely with trustees, debtors and companies of all sizes, particularly in the healthcare and banking industries, to navigate insolvency proceedings, asset sales, and Chapter 7 and Chapter 11 bankruptcy filings.

Before entering private practice, Taylor completed a two-year clerkship with Judge Scott C. Clarkson in the U.S. Bankruptcy Court for the Central District of California, where she gained hands-on experience in matters involving asset sales and restructuring under Chapter 7, 11, and 15.

Originally from Scotland, Taylor brings a global perspective to her work. Outside the office, she's a passionate soccer fan and a proud supporter of Rangers FC, following both the women's and men's leagues. She also played for a year in the Scottish Women's Premier League, a testament to her competitive spirit and strong, team-oriented mindset.
